Dear School Parents, Alums, Grandparents, Friends, and fellow SSP Parishioners,

The history of Saints Peter and Paul School is being written right now, and the story it tells is up to us! Our school thrives because YOU have stepped up and answered the two age-old questions: “If not us, then who? If not now, then when?”

Thank you for your support last year, which reversed a seven-year decline in our school’s Annual Fund giving, posting a 52% increase and exceeding our ambitious goals! We now ask you for your continued support because we have even more ambitious goals amid the stakes getting higher and the tide against us stronger. “In fact,” asserts Fr. Robert Barron, Director of Mundelein Seminary, “many studies have confirmed that the second largest religious denomination in America is ex-Catholics.” Catholic schools are closing and those that are staying open are having to increase tuition to levels that force them to confront core Catholic values. At the same time, a Catholic education has never been more important, as the Catholic lens (Faith, Hope, and Love) guides our students’ application of knowledge (Math, Science, Reading) toward a heightened sense of community, leadership, citizenship, and service to others. These are the same principles that founded our country and that will sustain its future.

We are blessed to be part of a great parish and are grateful to our pastor, Father Milota, who prioritizes support for the school. We are blessed to have had Frank Glowaty as Principal and now as Advancement Director, and we are excited to welcome Karen Meskill as Principal, who is aiming to take us to even higher heights, with her work on the curriculum already making a difference.

Our community has been built by all of us and must be sustained by all of us. Great examples are the considerable efforts made by our school parent and alum-staffed boards, including the School Board, Home & School, Athletic Association, and the Advancement Board. The Advancement Board’s aim is to steward the process by which we invite all of our constituents who believe in Catholic education to make tax-deductible gifts to Saints Peter and Paul School. The purpose of these funds is to both supplement every year’s operational budget while also safeguarding the long-term financial viability of the school.

As you can see from the details in this Annual Report, we’ve been successful in raising money and establishing three endowments. OK, so we have all this money, what difference does it make, and why do we need more? Well, it makes the school possible. Our school’s current operational budget receives over $450,000 from endowment earnings and other Advancement activities. This combines with the parish subsidy to create the environment of excellence that our kids experience. Furthermore, this amounts to approximately a $3,000 annual school tax deduction for each Catholic school family, enabling us to keep our tuition $1,000 per year lower than other Catholic schools in our area.

So what can you do? First, support our parish, as we are parishioners first, and the parish and school health are one in the same. Next, if you don’t already, send your child to the parish school and get involved as a volunteer, even consider joining one of the parent and alum-staffed boards. Then, as you are able, do your best to support the Annual Fund and the school Auction, Golf Outing, and the newly created Rummage Sale, which debuts in June 2015. The proceeds from these events go toward making our school thrive.

Saints Peter and Paul is a special place, for you, and because of you. Our prayer for our students is that we successfully springboard them into achieving in high school and college and into making a difference in the communities they help create, always guided by their faith. Our prayer for parents, alumni, and friends is that we are always here as a comforting rock of stability to continue to inspire them to answer God’s call. The parish has built a school culture in which we help teach our children what it means to be part of a community by allowing our kids to see their parents help create and sustain a community in front of their eyes.

This is what you are supporting! If not us, then who? If not now, then when?

Sincerely,

Ryan Kubacki, SSPP Parishioner, School Parent, and current President of the Advancement Board

FROM THE ADVANCEMENT DIRECTOR

Dear Friends of Saints Peter and Paul School,

Shortly upon announcing my decision last January to retire as principal of Saints Peter and Paul School, I was asked repeatedly about what I would miss most about not being at school on a daily basis after thirty-nine years on the job. The response which immediately came to mind, and which I am experiencing now that classes have resumed, is threefold. I miss being around the children, the interaction with teachers, and working in tandem with the parents. As for the parents, the majority of my colleagues were in constant disbelief when I would rave about how effective our four leadership boards (School Board, Home and School, Advancement Board, and Athletic Association) are at Saints Peter and Paul School. Many of them struggle to even get people to serve in such a capacity; others must work through adversarial relationships with their parent groups; and few have the talent and skill set among their parent population that we enjoy.

Add to this list the people who chair fun and fund-raising activities, coach our teams, serve as room mothers, chaperone field trips, deliver hot lunches, and man the school store or spirit wear, etc., etc., etc. The list is endless. The harmony that exists between our parents and teachers has helped us create an environment where true progress can be an annual benchmark and which enables our faculty and staff to be provided with the resources needed to help our school thrive.

As for our faculty, a school is only as strong as its professional educators and support staff. Passing on their faith, delivering instruction, communicating with parents, serving as role models, affirming students, and working behind the scenes in terms of grading papers, updating web pages, attending meetings, designing curriculum, and doing whatever is necessary to make our school strong are hallmarks of those to whom you have entrusted your children. We challenge each other and even disagree occasionally, but never lose sight of our mission… namely, to continue our rich tradition of providing quality Catholic education to the children of our parish.

Then, of course, there are the students. They are not only the lifeline of the school but are also those who give every day purpose, meaning, inspiration, and great joy. Being around the students, whether in the classrooms, halls, lunchroom, playground, church, or athletic fields, always left me filled with energy, excitement, enthusiasm, and pride.

I couldn’t help but swell with satisfaction in tracking our students’ successes and achievements through high school, college, and into the workforce. As great a feeling as that was, nothing could ever top the thrill when I saw a former student return as a SPP parent. There is no greater compliment any educator could ever receive.

Our tag line is Be A Part of Our Family. When students, parents, and teachers are all pulling together, as well as for each other, as they do at Saints Peter and Paul School, those words jump off the paper.

Sincerely,

Frank Glowaty
Principal 1975 - 2014

...We (Catholic Schools) need to provide an education which teaches critical thinking and encourages the development of mature moral values.”

KAREN MESKILL  School Principal
“"I am excited to be a part of the Saints Peter and Paul Community.””

The new leader of our school is Mrs. Karen Meskill, who comes to Saints Peter and Paul School after serving as a principal in the Archdiocese of St. Paul and Minneapolis for the last seven years. In addition to her administrative experience, she also taught at the middle school level for six years and has a background in banking and corporate training.

“I am excited to be a part of the Saints Peter and Paul Community,” said the New York native. “I am looking forward to working with the excellent faculty and staff, getting to know our students, and actively partnering with parents to continue to build upon the strong educational offerings and spiritual formation established here at Saints Peter and Paul.”

When asked what inspires her about working in a Catholic school, she responded, “I love working in a Catholic school where children pray daily with their teachers and attend weekly Mass. Each day we have the privilege to develop and strengthen the moral compass of each of our students that is used to guide them in their decision-making process now, and in their future endeavors, beyond Saints Peter and Paul.”

Mrs. Meskill greatly appreciated the warm welcome that was extended to her by the Saints Peter and Paul Community. She is looking forward to being a part of the community and contributing to the strong tradition of excellence in education. Knowing that leading a school into the future comes with its challenges, she is ready to embark upon them with excitement and enthusiasm.
